TANABATA

Dear Parents,

At the beginning of July, we celebrated the beautiful Tanabata Festival at Yorkland, a charming tradition with roots in both Japanese and Chinese folklore, telling the story of two stars who are allowed to meet only once a year on the seventh day of the seventh lunar month. It is a time for making wishes and sharing dreams.

Our children shared their wishes and teachers helped write them on colourful Tanzaku [wish papers] which were then hung on bamboo branches. Their sincerity was truly touching.

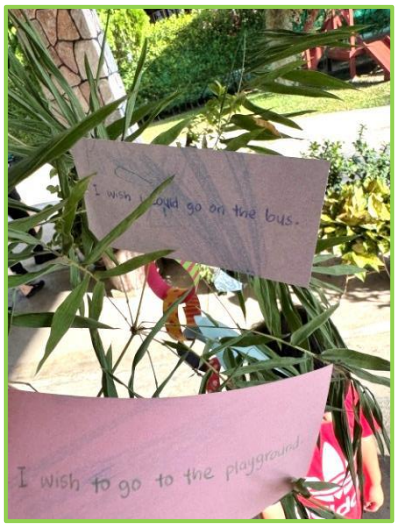
Naturally, there were cheerful wishes for favourite toys, food and outings. But what warmed our hearts most were the genuine, heartfelt wishes for their families.

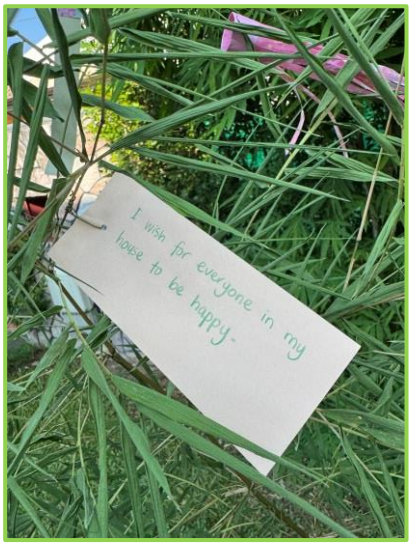
I wish my mummy and daddy are always happy.
I wish my brother gets well soon and always stays healthy.
I wish to play with my brother.

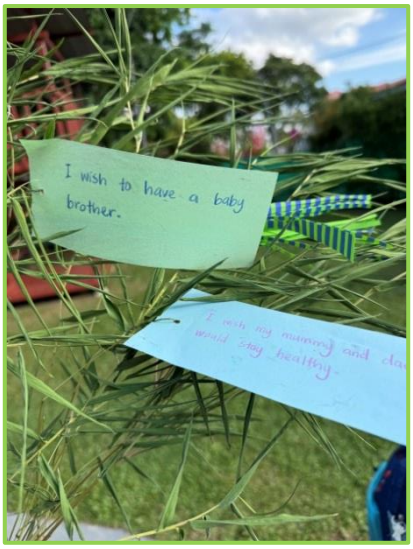
PLAY
IN TH

Many children simply wished to spend more time with their loved ones, showing us that even in their young hearts, family mean everything.

These little voices reminded us that beneath all the giggles, laughter and playful moments lay big, thoughtful and caring hearts. While they may still be young, their words reflect a deep sense of love, empathy and awareness, especially when they express wishes not just for themselves but for the happiness and well-being of those around them.







As teachers, we are always reminded how lucky and special we are to be part of the children's learning and growing journey. We feel deeply honoured to serve as a bridge between the children and their families. In fact, some of their wishes caught even their parents by surprise, they were simple and honest and showed us how caring and thoughtful the children really are.

It was truly a meaningful celebration, one that brought together culture, creativity and connection. The bamboo branches swayed gently under the weight of colourful wishes, each card filled with dreams, kindness and pure hope.

We are grateful to have witnessed such a beautiful moment of sharing. May all their heartfelt wishes, no matter how big or small, will come true.

Upcoming Events

Bento Day

Bento Day is coming soon! It will be held on 5th August 2025 [Tuesday] and we have planned an exciting, hands-on experience for the children!

In the lead-up to the event, each child will create their own wallet and play money, which they will use to "buy" their bento lunch on the day. This playful activity encourages creativity, builds confidence and gives children a chance to practise making simple choices independently.

This year, our big children will take charge of the selling booths, giving them a chance to practise leadership, communication and responsibility as they guide their younger peers through the activity.

We look forward to a joyful day of learning, teamwork and imagination and we will be sharing plenty of photos in the next newsletter!

Mooncake Festival

Please mark your calendars for our Yorkland Mooncake Festival, happening on Friday, 29th August 2025.
It will be a special evening celebration featuring children's performances and a joyful lantern walk.

Kindly take note that there will be no morning class or daycare service on that day, as our team will be fully focused on preparing for the evening celebration. We are sharing this early to give you plenty of time to make the necessary arrangements, and we truly hope you will be able to join us for this special occasion.

The detailed schedule and song sheet will be included in our next newsletter. Stay tuned!

We look forward to celebrating together under the moonlight!
